

Completion rate by year level of course work and academic year

The 2017/18 Academic year saw the highest completion rate of second year coursework. The program might want to consider whether or not any significant changes were made after that year, and if those changes could have student completion.

There is a decreasing trend in completion rate. The program might want to gather student feedback to understand barriers to completion and what if program changes are needed.